
Format of Feature Writing

1. Headline

- Captivating and Descriptive: Draws readers in with intrigue or emotion, hinting at the story's theme or focus.

2. Subhead (Optional)

- Additional Context: Provides more detail about the feature's content, complementing the headline.

3. Lead (Lede)

- Engaging Opening: A compelling introduction that sets the tone, introduces the topic or main characters, and hooks the reader. It can be anecdotal, descriptive, surprising, or pose a question.

4. Nut Graf

- The Essence: Located after the lead, this paragraph gives the story's thesis or main idea, explaining why the story matters and what it will cover.

5. Body

- Development: The story unfolds in a structured, engaging manner. This section is often segmented into several parts, including:
 - Background Information: Contextual details that help the reader understand the subject's significance.
 - Main Narratives: The core stories, arguments, or descriptions that drive the feature.

- Supporting Evidence: Data, quotes from interviews, research findings, and expert opinions that lend credibility and depth.
- Themes: Recurring ideas or motifs that tie different parts of the story together.
- Transitions: Smooth and logical connections between different sections, maintaining flow and coherence.

6. Direct Quotes

- Voices of the Story: Incorporate firsthand insights from key figures or experts to add authenticity, perspective, and emotion.

7. Imagery and Descriptions

- Vivid Detailing: Use descriptive language to paint pictures in the reader's mind, making the story memorable and immersive.

8. Conclusion

- Reflective Closure: Wraps up the story satisfyingly, often tying back to the lead, reflecting on the story's implications, or looking to the future. It should leave a lasting impression on the reader.

9. Sidebar (Optional)

- Additional Information: Boxes or sidebars that include related information, statistics, timelines, or mini-profiles complementing the main narrative.

10. Call to Action (Optional)

- Engagement: Encourages readers to engage further with the topic, whether through social media, further reading, or personal reflection.